To Whom It May Concern:

I have had the pleasure of interacting professionally with, and referring my patients to, Margaret Kay, Ed.D, for the past ten or more years. We both provide professional services to children who are in need of diagnostic evaluations and I have had the opportunity to share numerous pediatric cases with her.

Dr. Kay is an outstanding diagnostician. Her diagnostic evaluations are comprehensive and she uses a wide range of assessment tools to provide a profile for each child. She is well known for the detailed interpretation of tests, and her ability to translate results in a written report so that parents and professionals know what the child's strengths and needs are and how to help the child.

I've referred numerous patients to Dr. Kay who travel some distance to obtain her services and am quite comfortable doing so. Quality of work is crucial to proper diagnosis in children. Feedback from parents about how helpful her services have been to their children is always very positive.

I'd be happy to recommend Dr. Kay's professional services to anyone who seeks such and have been very pleased to have had the opportunity of sending my patients to her.
